PRESIDENT'S REPORT

At the UQBWC Executive meeting last week the following goals were set for 1993,

- ◆ to improve the level of club communication via newsletters etc..
- ◆ to increase the club's active membership.
- ◆ to hold more training events.
- ◆ to continue to have social outings.
- ◆ to spend money on current and future needs and to investigate other funding options.

The next executive meeting will be held on Tuesday, April 27. Our new members seem very keen so we will need to hold some easier walks over the next couple of months to cater for new walkers. These will allow them to increase their experience before tackling harder and longer walks. We welcome ideas for exciting walks, both easy and hard, and thank those trip leaders for their extra effort which is always necessary when lots of novices go on trips.

Only by participating in walks will you make the most of what UQBWC has to offer, so please do not feel that you are too inexperienced, too unfit, or too busy to join in - after all that was how the older members started out. UQBWC is probably the best place for the beginner to start a bushwalking career.

Easter - Caving at Mt Etna.

The Mt Etna/Limestone ridge area, 20km north of Rockhampton, is a great place to start caving. All you need is a good strong torch, a spare smaller torch, strong pants and long-sleeved shirt or overalls, a helmet (borrow the club's maybe) lots of spare batteries and a caving guide. Contact Janice if you are interested in organising or going on a trip whenever.

* The caves are of different standards of crawling, walking and climbing, so you can chose how strenuous the activity is.

News:

The Qld. Federation of Bushwalking Clubs is holding its Annual Bushdance at the Jimboomba Hall on the 19th of March. For more details contact the Federation G.P.O Box 1573, or our representative Don Roberts

The Library has purchased a new book, the latest edition of 'Bushwalking in S.E Qld' by Ross Buchanan. It has heaps of great walks so go over to Jephson St and check it out!

- MOUNT KAPUTAR NATIONAL PARK -

Easter is the time to go to Kaputar. With four days to spare and the chance of snow, the 580km drive down to Narrabri on the Newell Highway and the 48km road up to Mt. Kaputar (1508m) is worth the effort. If you have the time, the road over Killarney Gap between the Kaputar Sector to the south and the Grattai Sector to the north is very interesting, and could be combined with a visit to the Ashford caves.

Kaputar, like the Warrumbungles further to the south, rises abruptly from the western plains. It is the deeply eroded basaltic remains of a huge volcano which erupted 18 million years ago, and was centred on Mt. Lindsay (1436m) 5km to the south east of Mt. Kaputar.

Erosion has exposed folded sandstones and conglomerates, the oldest of which was laid down 230 million years ago. Moraine debris deposited by alpine glaciers during this cold climate period can be seen east of Mt. Kaputar and make the main range traverse from Mt. Kaputar to Killarney Gap an interesting two day trip.

On your right, shortly after entering the Park, from the creek south of Green Camp, a blazed trail leads to the summit of Yalludunida Crater. The views from the crescent rim are spectacular. After rain, water may be collected in pools along the top. By following the rim right around, you can then drop down either on the eastern side and along the cliffline or head west over to Ningadhun which is a spectacular butte.

By following the road up to Mt. Kaputar, you will see on your right the impressive Eulah Rock. A trip down and around this volcanic plug is well worth while. Those interested in rock climbing will not want to miss the number of interesting rock routes up Eulah.

To the north is Corumbral Borawah (The Governor) (1410m) which is another must. The views from here are among the best. West Kaputar Rocks Lookout and of course Mt. Kaputar from which you can see the Warrumbungles 160km to the south west. Whistling and wedge-tailed eagles command the skies over this superb area.

Further along the road is the Dawson Spring camping area. A circuitous walk around the television transmitting tower and taking in Eckfords and Bundabulla Lookouts, affording views out to the south and east, is also worth doing. If you are fortunate you may see the eastern grey kangaroo (Macropus giganteus) lazing in groups.

The basaltic soils support a wide range of vegetation. Dry sclerophyll forests predominate and there are twenty species of wattle. On the tops the snow gums (E. pauciflora) are lovely in the mists, whilst in the gullies wet sclerophyll species grow amongst ferns. On the lower slopes, where the erosion has cut down into the underlying sandstones, cypress pine (Callitris columellaris) and iron barks grow.

The Bark Hut campsite lies amidst tall groves of red stringybark (Eucalyptus macrorlyncha). The early settlers used sheets of its thick fibrous bark to waterproof their huts.

The Mt. Grattai Sector of the Park is fascinating, with Gins Mountain providing the focus of attention. Composed of younger trachytes, Gins is an eerie mountain. From the west, the group of isolated tors stand out against the late evening sky. From Killarney Gap you can either climb to the top of the ridge running north or scramble along the western side over scree slopes. Walking along the ridge is easy through the open forest. By dropping down to the creek, you will find an excellent campsite for exploring Mt. Grattai and Gins Mountain. As on all the higher parts of the Park, heavy frosts may be experienced. In cold weather, below the summit of Grattai, delicate ice crystals can be seen picked out against a black background of peaty mud, even after the exposure of full sunlight for half the day.

On the north western side of Gins mountain, unmarked on the topographic map since it does not show up from the aerial survey photographs, is a short and very narrow gorge, the top of which is concealed by thick foliage. Having found this gorge when looking for water a number of years ago, we entered it from below the cliff, its existence not at all apparent for waters flowing into it go underground to join the main creek. Later we spoke of our find to the Head Ranger in Narrabri who was unaware of its existence. So, as in all large Parks, there still remain fascinating things to discover.

Navigation Training Weekend : 3rd/4th April

Just when you thought it was safe to go back to the bush...

Are you confident about navigation in the bush? Do you know which side of the map is most beneficial? Do you know which of the three arrows on a compass you are supposed to follow? (OK, ok, trick question!) What do TN, GN and MN have in common (apart from the fact that they all contain an "N")? Are you confident with your navigation, but simply want a bit of fun practice?

Navigation made simple : let's get rid of the mystification surrounding common-sense navigation! This will be a fun weekend, where I will be going through the basics of navigation, i.e. map reading (N.B.: compasses definitely take a back seat), at the base of Mt Barney! On Saturday we will be starting off with the basics, and slowly working up to more interesting things. On Sunday there will be a "mini-rogaïne" (approximately 4 hours) for you to test your newly-found or newly-polished navigational skills on.

What to bring : food, food, a copy of the "Mt Lindsay 1 : 25 000" map (available at Hema Maps and all Sunmap agencies), a compass (preferably a flat base-plate type), a whistle (ESSENTIAL), swimming gear, water bottles, and overnight gear. We will be "car-camping", so there should be plenty of room for luxuries!

There will be a limit of 20 people for Saturday, and 30 people for Sunday, so book your place now. I can be contacted at home on 878 3674 and at work on 365 1265. I must have final numbers no later than Thursday 25th March.

See you there!

Robert Dancer.

6 And 12 Hour Rogaine : Saturday 8th May

Rogaining is an Australian sport which involves long distance navigation over varying terrain using standard 1 : 25 000 or 1 : 50 000 topographic maps. Each team (2 - 4 people) is given the location of a number of checkpoints (worth differing numbers of points) and a time limit. Each team then tries to get as many points as they can within their time limit. The time limits for this rogaïne will be 6 hours or 12 hours. The beauty of rogaïne is that individual teams can make it as hard or as easy for themselves as they like. As a result, it can be either a pleasant 6 hour stroll through the bush, or a gruelling 12 hour mental and physical challenge, or anything in between; the choice is yours.

This event is being held within 2 hours drive of Brisbane. Camping will be available at the event centre on Saturday night. The 6 and 12 hour events will have different start times, but both can involve both day and night navigation. The cost has not yet been decided, but is likely to be between $15 and $30 dollars per person. This will include camping fees and dinner. The organiser tells me that the terrain will be "variable, some very easy, some not so easy... On the whole, comparable to a mini rogaïne championship event." Make of that what you will!

Entry forms and further information available from Robert Dancer, Ph (H) 878 3674, or (W) 365 1265.

Come and try it!

A CASUAL STROLL IN THE SOUTHERN RANGES - PRECIPITOUS BLUFF (P.B)

Walkers: Janice "The Pres" Porter and Ian "The Rookie" Sinclair

The walk to P.B. is described in the guidebooks as being suitable for strong, experienced parties, with tent poles an essential item. Ignoring all of that we set off. Janice was under the misconception I was experienced in long treks, the fallacy exposed after four days. I was under the misconception Janice was willing to carry the heaviest pack. This fallacy was exposed on the first day.

We caught the Wilderness Tours bus from Hobart down to the Lune River, filled out the walkers registration book and began the walk. The first day was a good introduction to one of the dominant features of Tasmanian bushwalking - mud! The first six days consisted of following ridges and saddles, navigation being relatively easy. The names of the campsites enhanced the walk - Moonlight Flats, Pigsty Ponds, Ooze Lake and Leaning Tea-tree Saddle all added a Tolkien-like atmosphere to the walk. For the first six days, the weather was a mix of overcast and windy conditions and days and nights of clear skies, with P.B. drawing steadily closer and Federation Peak tantalisingly on the horizon. The track varied from a well-defined footpad to a series of rocky cairns every 100 metres or so. At one memorable place there was no track resulting in 3-4 hours of scrub-bashing, during which the tent-poles got lost. The ascent of P.B. was a challenge and then suddenly we were sitting on top of P.B. looking back to where we'd been.

The descent was worse than the ascent and then we had a four hour wade of New River Lagoon to Prior Beach where we joined the South Coast Track. The remaining five days involved relatively easy walking along a clearly marked track (although very muddy on occasions) and some beach walking. This part of the walk featured superb views of rocky headlands and beautiful sandy beaches. The Southern Ocean was awe-inspiring on occasions as it pounded against the coast, and the whole panorama was enhanced by the solitude.

The last day was something of a culture shock; seeing people on a regular basis who were out day-walking. Hitching a lift in the back of a surfers van, I thought even though I was tired, bruised, stank to high heaven and trying not to think of the replacement cost of the tent-poles, I was glad I'd done the walk. The complete absence of any human development, the amazing beauty and variety of the region is something I will never forget. For all those thinking about going to Tasmania - do it. Save the money somehow, rent the gear from the club if you don't possess any, and go. You won't regret it.

UQBWC Trip List

13 Mar 93 - 9th May 93

March:

- Sunday 14: Come to an Abseiling Training Day, to be held at the Kangaroo Point Cliffs, starting at 8:00 am, finishing around 1pm. Check with the organiser, Vaughn Andrews (Ph. 371 5156) for further details.
- Sunday 14: An Ice Skating social evening at the Acacia Ridge Rink is on, starting at 7:30pm. Check with Janice Porter (Ph. 371 0591) for transport, costs, and other details.
- Sunday 21: A easy Daywalk to Cedar Creek will be held, led by Elizabeth Jacob. A beautiful area, but infrequently visited by the club. (Ph. 371 0591).
Contour: Gentle. Terrain: Creek walk. Grade: 2
- Sunday 21: A Daywalk up Mt Warning will be followed (for some) by an abseil off the western side of the peak (this is optional and only for the very keen). Departing Brisbane at 4:00am! Contact Reg Pollitt (Ph. 371 7087) for more details.
Contour: Steep Terrain: Major track + rock slabs. Grade: 3
- Wed 24: An introductory Rope Work evening will be given by Paul Hill (Ph. 379 5710). Learn about Prussiking, the use of Jumars, and the use of tape, and various knots to use. Meet at 6:00pm outside the 4ZZZ room.
- W/E 27-28: A Basecamp at the Conondale Ranges will be held over the weekend. Two easy daywalks will be held to fully explore this excellent forest area northwest of Brisbane. Contact Kay Colthorpe (Ph. see Club Executive list) for bookings.
Contour: Creek ravines Terrain: Some tracks, forestry area. Grade: 2-3
- Sunday 28: The annual "Walk Against Want" around the City and Southbank, to the Regatta Hotel and back, will be held. Interested? Ring Kay Colthorpe (Ph. see Club Executive list)

April:

- W/E 3 - 4: A Navigation Training Weekend will be held, following the popularity of last year's event. Turn up for Saturday: the basics of navigation, and/or Sunday for the Mini-Rogaine (bushwalk-orienteeing mix). The venue is Yellow Pinch. See article in this Mini-Heybob for further details. Contact Robert Danser (Ph. 878 3674).
Contour: Rolling hills. Terrain: Cow Paddocks. Grade: 2-3
- Wed 7: Monthly Club Meeting will be held in the Clubs and Societies Room (near the Uni Bike Shop) starting at 7:00pm. Slides of previous walks, general discussions and tea and bikkies will all be served up.
- EASTER:
W/E 9-12: A throughwalk from the Border Ranges to O'Reilly's will be held. Note the limit of six people on these walks. See Robert Danser (Ph. 878 3674) for details.
Contour: Hilly. Terrain: Unmarked rainforest track. Grade: 4.5
- W/E 9-12: A throughwalk along the length of the Main Range will be held (best views in SE QLD). There will be two groups doing this trip - North to South and vice versa. The limit of each group is six people. Contact Paul Hill. (Ph. 379 5710).
Contour: Steep ascents & descents. Terrain: Unmarked rainforest route. Grade: 5

15-18: Base camp trip to Mt Barney. Various walks on Barney camping at Yellowpinch Reserve. Contact: Peter Zunn (848 5148)

W/E 9-12: Cancelled { An easy throughwalk along Rocky Creek (Tenterfield area) will be held. Contact Reg Pollitt (Ph. 371 7087) for more details.
Contour: Mostly flat. Terrain: Creek walk (rocky), Grade: 2-3 anyone else want to lead this?

WEEK 9-18: Anyone interested in caving at Mt. Etna (near Rockhampton) should contact Janice Porter (Ph. 371 0591).

WEEK 9-18: A trip to Daintree (yep - Far North Queensland) is planned. Options are to drive up (2 days) or fly (2 hours). Contact Bernadette Lodge (Ph. 371 0591) for further details.

W/E 17-18: A throughwalk from the Tweed Pinnacle to the Stinson Wreck and out to Christmas Creek will be held. Contact Vaughn Andrews (Ph. 371 5156)
Contour: Hilly. Terrain: Unmarked rainforest route. Grade: 5-6

W/E 24-26: A training day for Rogaining will comprise a daywalk(?) from Binna Burra to O'Reilly's and back. This should take from 10am to 10pm! Rob Danser is the organiser of this (Ph. 878 3674).
Contour: Gentle slopes. Terrain: Major park track. Grade: 3

Anzac Day long weekend is open to other suggestions... See Anthony Smith for ideas or questions.

Monday 26: An easy daywalk in Lamington National Park will be held. Destination not yet finalised, but contact Karen Gerry (Ph. 371 7657) for more information.
Contour: Gentle slopes. Terrain: Major park track. Grade: 1-2

May:

W/E 2-3: A basecamp at O'Reilly's will be held, to do some daywalking around this very scenic area. Contact Phillip Norman (Ph. 379 2737) for more info.
Contour: Gentle slopes. Terrain: Major park track. Grade: 2

Wed 5: Monthly Club Meeting will be held in the Clubs and Societies Room (near the Uni Bike Shop) starting at 7:00pm. Slides of previous walks, general discussions and tea and bikkies will all be served up. The next trip list will have to be sorted out here, so send any ideas to Janice Porter if you can't attend the meeting...

Sat 8: The 4th QLD Rogaine will be held near Toowoomba. Rob Danser says: Start training NOW!

Sun 9: A daywalk to the Glasshouse Mountains will be held. Some climbing will be done, to get up Crookneck, while Tibbrogargan and Beerwah are a doddle. See Geoff Seawright (Ph. 870 1400) for more details.
Contour: Quite steep! Terrain: Worn track, rock slab scrambling Grade: 3-6

March: Sat 13: An easy daywalk along a creek at the base of the Lost World. Bring your logs and be ready to fall in! Leaving 7:15am from Uni, if you come don't forget to vote first. Contact Kate Campbell (369 6430) & leave your name and number.
Contour: Mostly flat Terrain: Creek walk (rocky) Grade: 1-2

covers cotton T-shirt and screenprinting back and front

The design on the BACK speaks for itself really ...

The FRONT features a five-colour drawing of photographer/bushwalker character trying to crawl through thick tree-y vegetation.

40 T-shirts only have been screenprinted, so hurry in and get one from Janice Porter. She will be at O-day, the BBQ or on a walk.
or at monthly meetings.
